

Chester Greene Main Eagle Track Hope

Over hill-over-dale run the members of Morehead State College's track team in preparation for the season's engagements which will soon begin, Coach Edwin Fowler has announced. The schedule includes a triangular meet between the University of Kentucky and Berea College at the Shamrock A. C. race in Louisville on Thanksgiving Day. Last year was the first time a cross-country team and last year's best track man, Chester Greene, is back, in the role of the only runner left from last year's team.

Greene developed into one of the best miler in the O. V. C. during his last year's track campaign. To Ben Wheeler, member of the 1942-43 basketball team and the second best quarter-mile in the O. V. C. has also turned to the track with the promise to be an excellent performer.

Tennessee Tech in action in one of the plays that took them to victory against MSC — 27-0.

Tenn. Tech Defeats Morehead 27-0; Eagles Injury Ridden

Barker, Gose, Reed, Wells Deliver Fine Performances

Unsuccessful in their third attempt, the Morehead Eagles succumbed to Tennessee Tech, 27-0, in the OVC tilt at Jayne Memorial Stadium, October 3. Fighting gamely the first stanza the Eagles made the better showing. However, Tech capitalized on the Eagles lack of replacements and outlasted the home team's one platoon with a modified "three platoon" system. Using three full teams, Tech could and did substitute a full unit if the occasion called for it. Also injurious to the Blue was the absence of Gardner Bates and John Thompson, mainstays in the forward wall, who were sidelined by injuries.

L. A. Allen, Tech quarterback, climaxed the Cocksieville Golden Eagle's 50 yard drive by crashing over from the one late in the second period. Guard Robert Haloway converted to give Tech a 7-0 half-time lead.

Tech kept the ball most of the second, outmaneuvering the firing Eagles. Erwin Mitchell, Tech's "second platoon" quarterback, scored on a three yard pass. Haloway added another extra point.

The Tennessee club went on to score twice in the fourth, taking full advantage of the Big Blue's injury weakened line. Center Wallace "Brownie" Felix was taken to the showers with an injured shoulder early in the second quarter, but returned to see some action in the last half.

Harold Barker, Morehead's end, tackle and punter, played his usual stellar ball, with Jim Gose, Ed Wells and Ed Reed also turning in exceptional performances. Sevin by forward wall, who were sidelined by injuries.

World Series Summary

Yankees! Yankees! Yankees! Always Yankees.

For the past five years baseball fans have witnessed the awesome, devastating, monopolistic power of the Yankees.

Lopat, Reynolds, Raschi, Ford, McDonald, Page, Chandler and Sain formed one of the most potent array of pitchers since the McGraw dynasty of the Giants.

One cannot single out any Yankee batter as a contributing factor for these five penants and five World Series in a row.

Last year's baseball fans throughout the United States witnessed the combination of the Yankee pitching, hitting and just plain luck as they won their fifth consecutive Series.

On the other side Carl Erskine set a new series record, striking out 14 Yankees in winning the third game after Brooklyn had lost the first two at friendly Ebbets Field.

Individual batting star for the winning Yanks was Billy Martin who tied a World Series record, that he hit 12 for the series.

Junior Gilliam, Brooklyn's fresh men second sacker, who was voted "Rookie of the Year" by the Sporting News, was the batting hero for the Bums.

Most dramatic moment of the entire series was in the ninth inning of the sixth and last game when with first base occupied by Hodges, one out, Brooklyn behind 3 to 1, 3 balls 2 strikes on the mound, Carl stepped into one of Allie's curve balls and slapped it into the right field seats for a home run run tying the game.

However, Billy Martin, in the last of the ninth inning, with two men on, slapped a single through the middle to end Brooklyn's short lived hopes and with that the Yankees annexed their fifth consecutive World Series.

Robin Reports On Women's Sports

By Robin Goodgaster

Salute to the cheerleaders! My heading states that I report on women's sports. Well, it's debatable as to whether or not cheerleading is a sport, but a rebuttal isn't even necessary to determine that this year's squad is definitely for the women. As a matter of fact, there are eight women cheering for the Eagles in this year—three more than in years past.

Let's meet these youngsters, who have been elected as cheerleaders to represent MSC. Our co-captains are two veterans who look enough alike to be twins. By the way, they are twins, Phyllis and Peggy Sawyer of Salsyville and have followed the Eagles starting their fourth year. Previous to their college career, they had not been cheerleaders, but through experience, have developed a loyal attitude and sincere leadership that should be appreciated by the fans.

Eleonor Bruce, a transfer student from Stephens, is a junior this year. While she is a senior at Breckinridge, she experienced her first year as a cheerleader. However, this gave her enough to be appreciated by the fans.

Dot Wyatt, a peppy performer from Russell, is at home again as she leads the crowd in cheers. So, as we leave this pep rally, let's all join in with the total yell, which is always appropriate at anytime—Yea Team, Yea Team, We're with you!!!

Rocket Expert Says Mars Trip Possible

An Army rocket expert described this week how an expedition of 50 earth-men could spend 400 days exploring the planet Mars.

In sober, scientific language, Werner von Braun, German rocket developer now with the U. S. Army, presented calculations for the expedition which he said would cost no more than "those for a minor military expedition extending over a limited theater of war."

In a slim book of 90 pages titled "The Mars Project" and published by the University of Illinois press, he gave this blueprint:

Party-nine ferry vessels propelled by three-stage rockets would take parts, supplies, fuel and men to a point 1,075 miles above the earth. At that point they would freely circle the earth like a tiny moon while 10 space ships were assembled and readied for the trip.

A total of 900 flights over eight months' time would be required to ferry sufficient supplies and fuel to the circling takeoff station. The ferry vessels would consume 500 million dollars' worth of fuel.

The interplanetary rockets, already circling at a breath-taking speed outside the drag of the earth's atmosphere, would need only 3½ million dollars' worth of fuel for the actual trip to Mars and back.

Von Braun's calculations are based on use of rocket fuels now available since he doubts atomic power would be any cheaper for at least 25 years.

Rocket power would sweep the space ships from their orbit around the earth into a long curve toward Mars.

The ride through space would take 200 days. At the end of their journey the space ships would take up another circling orbit around Mars. The explorers could reach Mars in "landing boats."

Von Braun supposes that three of the space ships would be devoted primarily to supplies and could be ditched on Mars.

The scientists, drawing on data from experiments in which radio impulses have been bounced back from the moon, said radio

Seeming Love Note Makes Wives Rant

A publicity stunt designed to plug the forthcoming visit of a movie star backfired with marital strife in scores of homes at Paris, Ill.

One wife went running for a divorce and another kicked in her picture window in anger at her husband.

The ruckus arose over the visit of Dorothy Lamour and a variety revue at Paris, Ill., Oct. 28 under the auspices of the Paris Exchange Club.

One bright club member got the idea of dressing up a little advance publicity with this postcard:

"Darling: Don't forget our date at 8 p. m. on Oct. 28. Dorothy."

The club went through the telephone book and mailed cards to every third name listed. The book includes several Eastern Illinois communities as well as Paris, a town of 10,000 persons.

The postcards fell like a bombshell on many a household. The identity of the enticing "Dorothy" became the hottest conversational subject in town.

At nearby Marshall, Ill., one woman went to her jawbreaker to talk about divorce, but she was mollified when he told her he had received a card too.

At Chatham, Ill., it was reported that a wife kicked her picture window to splinters in a hot argument with her husband over Dorothy.

The wife of a locomotive engineer ran to the yards and flagged down her husband, demanding to know whether the card was from his first wife, whose name contact from earth could be maintained with the expedition.

In an early book, "Space Medicine," published in 1961, Von Braun and five other experts discussed the effect of interplanetary travel on the human body.

was Dorothy.

A Christian husband threatened to sue the club after an argument with his wife.

Exchange Club officials said the idea appeared to have been a "mistake."

They refused to identify the originator of the postcards and hoped the whole thing would blow over.

166 Kentuckians
Were Claimed Last Year In Fires

Every week should be Fire Prevention Week for since 166 Kentuckians were killed last year by fire, it is time to take precautions to prevent needless death and destruction in the future from this cause.

Records of the Kentucky State Department of Health show that 126 of the 166 deaths from fire occurred in the home.

In checking the source of these home accidents from fire hazards, one finds that 29 deaths were caused by over-heated, exploding or defective stoves.

Fifteen persons ironically enough warmed themselves too close to the fire... and tragedy resulted.

Eleven died by kindling fires with gasoline or kerosene, while smoking in bed caused eight other deaths.

For home protection we point out some "good fire insurance":

(1) Be sure your stove is regulated properly so it won't become too hot.

(2) Never use gasoline or kerosene when kindling a fire.

(3) Keep fireplaces screened.

(4) Beware of smoking in bed.

(5) Keep matches and inflammable liquids away from children.

(6) Check electrical appliances wiring to be sure they are safe.

Gov. Wetherby—

(Continued From Page 2) The committee said it should be done on the basis of principles of the proposed Foundation Program for Education.

These principles were adopted by the committee as a guide for developing public education. And, it said, if and when more money later is available for education, funds should be distributed according to the Foundation Program principles.

Section 186 requires that at least 15 per cent of the common school fund be distributed on the "census pupil" basis. This year, $2,215,500, or 82½ per cent of the fund, is being spent on the pupil basis. This is according to the number of school age children counted in the school census, whether or not they attend public school.

The per capita fund of $5,573,000 this year is distributed under a formula designed to aid poorer districts.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES

The Rev. John Elaseaser, assistant diocesan superintendent of education, reported this week there were 16,802 pupils enrolled this year in elementary and secondary schools of the Catholic Diocese of Covington. The enrollment represents an increase of 1,417 over last year.

INTEREST RATES

The Treasury has announced a downward revision in interest rates on an issue of government securities for the first time since the Republicans assumed control of the government. At the same time, it stopped the sale of short-term securities to take advantage of the lower rates.
